does Wilmington pay? The latest way of referring to the resident of the Nation, is to call him Chet Arthur, but when It becomes convenient or necessary to refer to the ex-President, chief of the late rebellion, it is ex-President Jefferson Davis. This is the stile of our friend Kingsbury. Of course he knows?

POOR OLD BROGDEN.

He has become demented, and like all men in that condition has joined the Democratic party. Let him rest, brethren of the press, and all will be

JUST AND TRUE.

The New England Journal of Educa tion says: "One of the wisest benefac tors in the north is Mrs. Mary Hem menway, of Boston: Mrs. Hemmen way is well known in her own city by her munificent gifts in various directions for industrial, charitable, and educational purposes. A large number of the public school teachers of the city enjoy the excellent course of scientific lectures at the Institute of Technology through her bounty. Fifteen years ago Mrs. Hemmenway built the beautiful Tileston school house, at Wilmington, N. C. in which Miss Amy Bradley bas wrought her wonderful success smong the poor white people of that locality. Two years ago she established a little Miss Sawyer and Miss Bush, this school of 100 children, has become a model for the whole region. Its benevolent foun on the edge of Norfolk as the site of a great school building in which Miss Newton's seminary may be developed, with the most approved industrial surroundings."

Mrs. Hemmenway and Miss Bradley, are almost reverenced by the people of this city, and justly so.

THE CONFEDERACY LIVETH

The Republican National Committee should pay the expenses of Father Ryan and, if necessary, a good bonus to him, to have his lecture delivered all of truth as well. Father Ryan as a political propagandist is no fraud. And herein is the radical difference between talks out, with his mouth wide open, what they choke down, or express with muddy explanation or hypocritical apol-

His recent lecture in this city was a model of genuine bourbon simplicity. He says the "south" is what he calls "our country," and the "north" is "their country;" that the two represent two conflicting, irrepressible, and adversary civilizations; that the south is all that is good and pure; the north all that is mercenary, selfish, mean, cowardly and brutal; that the so-called lost cause was right, and is right to-day, and that its so-called "principles" must ultimately succeed. Utterances like these are received with applause by crowded houses in southern cities. Yet there are people in the north who preand to be fools enough to believe that southern bourbons are true to the counlry the constitution and the flag.

Southern liberals, many of whom were giving their dear blood while and the course of the accident, remning Father Ryan was giving his cheap and unavailing prayers to the lost cause, repudiate and spure this undisguised treson. They do not believe that the "cause" is right. They do not believe its failure was a misfortune. They are willing to mimit, like men, without the lat day of May nextapologizing for doing what they then believed was right, that it is better for human liberty and national progress that secession failed. They submit cheerfully to the arbitrament of war, that highest of all earthly courts, and decline to rail at the decision of the God of battles. They do not believe that slavery was divine, nor desire its re-establishment in any form In going to war for its perpetuation they believe that they were in error .-While willing that the memories of the men who died in the service of their states shall be duly honored, they despise the sneaking efforts of the bourbon politician to trade upon their graves dead bones. As between what is called northern and southern civilization, they are for the northern with all that it rightly implies. They are tired of this everlasting gush and humbug about the "south," and "southern rights." They are for advancing this section to the plane of the north-for inviting northern people and capital, not to barely tolerate them as an inferior class who will be allowed to live here as long as the north and west are only paying they spend their money freely to support the "first families" in idleness and keep the southern gentleman, so-called, (a class of haif educated idiots, who try to flourish on the dry-rot respectabisity of their ancestors) in office and power. They are for making northern men feel at home here and for giving them and their families every advantage and recognition, social and political. They are for giving to the twelve or fifteen millions of people in the south the rights and the equality of which they were robbed by an aristocracy of some two hundred thousand slave holders, who have always, with colossal impudence, styled themselves "the south." If the true men of the north will stand by these liberals great work can be accomplished

WILMINGTON, N. C., BUNDAY MORNING, APRIL 22, 1883.

Surgeon General J. B. Hamilton o of the marine hospital service has been en an inspecting tour of the Gulf and south Atlantic coast. He stopped at this place a few days ago and inspected the marine hospital, and visited many of the business centers of the place in this city. The Surgeon General is in charge of a very important branch of the government service, if not the most important of them all, and he naturally is very much concerned about the quarantine regulations of the seaports of the south. He desires, and in our dinion should have, the co-operation of the state and municipal authorities in all matters coming under his jurisdiction. Dr. Hamilton is one of the best posted men in the country on quarantine law, and the great necessity of s rigid enforcement of the same, and we hope to see him have entire con-trol and management of the quarantine regulations of the whole country. There should be one set of rules for the southern coast, and one head to enforce them. When that is rought about we may expect never to hear of yellow fever being brought to our shores. Let the National Board of Health die a natural death. The duties which have been performed by that board should have been under the Surgeon General of the Marine Hopttal service all the time. The duty would then have been performed satisfactorily, and hundreds of thousands of dollars saved to the government.

Custom House Reductions.

The Secretary of the Treasury is cutting down expenses in the custom house in this city. Messrs. James A. Lowery and Joseph C. Fill, two as good and faithful officers as belonged to the service, were discharged on the 16th. Where the justice of this comes in we are unable to see. The officers here are entitled to the same rights and privileges, under the law, that those in Washington receive. But they do not and never have received anything like equare treatment If the expenses of the department have to be reduced, a a few collection districts are made to suffer. The clerks and other officers at Washington receive thirty days leave a year, with pay, but inspectors of cusns, who work ten to twelve hours daily, never receive a days' leave. If the Secretary would deal justly with these hard worked officers each one of them should be given thirty days (each) during the hot season. Let two of them go at a time. That would have given them all recreation, and they would have been better able to perform their work when the busy season sets in next fall. There are many places where the expense of the government could have been reduced with more equity than cutting off two poor inspectors right here in the hot season, when it will be hard for them to get work; and we hope the Secretary will yet reconsider this matter and grant each officer here his full thirty days, that will leave the collector with a force as small as he can possibly get along with, at the same time all will get their rights.

COL. E. W. CLARK, CHIEF REVENUE MARINE, TRAES-URY DEPARTMENT.

The gentleman whose name heads this article has been for many years chief of the Revenue Marine Bureau of the Treasury Department, one of the most important divisions in the government. He has managed this branch of the Treasury Department under three Presidents and their secretaries of the treasury; this would prove his very great ability alone, but his universal popularits with the officers of the revenue ma rine corps and his success in obtaining from congress all needed appropriations for his division and the complimentary treatment his bureau received from nearly all the commercial bodies last winter when the navy was trying to capture his entire corps, shows beyond doubt, not only his ability, but his popularity with his superiors, his subinents, and with the people of the country with whom he is brought indirectly in contact. His division has been worked up from a few old hulls to a very respectable navy of more than thirty vessels, all in first-class repair, armed and equipped for active service. The officers of his command are a fine looking set of gentlemes, who are men of ability, well posted in the consens laws, and regulations of the Tremury Department, and are thoroughly disciplined. In fact, Complined. In fact, Come. Clark has a squadron that ld to a credit to an old salt of many wars. We wish him a continued in his official management, and he for all of his personal undertakings. Wilmington, Wrightiville and that the grading of the above road is simply said as usual, and the clerk S. G. Hubert, a colored civil engineer, we know you are very suspici than he ever expected it would Mr. E. E. Green has qualified by giving the necessary bond as assistant secretary and treasurer, and he is prepared to issue stock without delay. The road is to be structed by colored employes entirely. It has a colored president, the ablest colored man in the state, and a gentleman of the strictest integrity. It has a colored man as superindent and general manager who has as much energy as any other living man; also, a colored secretary and treasurer, and new they have a colored civil engineer, which completes the staff. The board of directors are all colored, and of the type of directors are all colored, and of the type of directors are all colored men of the state. of directors are all colored, and of the very best colored men of the state. properly expended, and every cent hon-

We believe it is desired by the white people of this country that the colored race should take a stand among the buness men of the world. It certainly is sincerely wished for by the friends of ple intend to construct the Wilmings ton, Wrightsville and Onslow railroad from Wilmington to Jacksonville (and many believe further on), by colored mechanics and laborers. We hope the friends everywhere of the colored people will take stock and thereby encourage them in their laudable undertaking. The projectors of this enterprise have worked long and hard to get it properly before the public, so that the people could take hold of it without risk, and it is exceedingly gratifying that they have at last succeeded entirely. Now. if the people will do their duty the iron horse will travel from Wilmington to Jacksonville within the next 12

The question has been often asked us, if we thought the enterprise would be a paying one. We can answer without the slightest hesitation and say it will unquestionably pay very handsome dividends. But we will go further and explain our reasons for coming to the above conclusion: 1st-The road can be constructed cheaper, per mile, than any road has been or could be in the state-but little grading-and it passes over a very light sandy country, plenty of timber for cross-ties, bridges, &c. 2d-Onslow county is forty miles from a railroad, therefore this road will be its only leader to the markets of the world; the people are rich, the lands are as good as any in the state; the freights alone will pay a large profit to any road. In fact the colored people of the south could not have selected a better direction to have run a railroad. They have displayed good judgement, and the dividend will prove it as soon as the road is completed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 19, '83. DEAR POST:-The week has passed and here I am again, ready for the Post. Weeks pass very rapidly in Washington; one hardly gets time to turn around twice and the beginning of another week approaches. But we have here more that any other place in the world; the inhabitants change so frequently that by the time you are introduced to your neighbor;another steps in, his place—the cabinet changes nearly as often as the weather. There is one thing however that never changes, namely: the same old majors, the self-same old colonels, and those kind venerable look ing old judges, who have been standing around awaiting to be invited to take a smile, they are still here, and here they are expected to remain; no change in them, they will never die, and no such good luck as any one stealing them

Wife and children presend their kisses on his lips. This is enough. The longest life contains no more. This fill the vase of joy. He who lies there clothed with the perfect peace of death was a kind and loving husband and good father, a generous neighbor, an honest man, and these words build a monument of glory above the humblest grave. He was always a child, sincere and frank, as full of hope as spring. He divided all time into to day and to-merrow. To morrow was without a cloud, and of to-morrow he borrowed sunshine for to-day, He was my friend. Te will remain so. The living oft become estranged; the dead are true. He was not a Christian. In the Eden of his hope there did not crawl and coil the serpent of eternal pain. In many languages he sought the thoughts of men, and for himself he solved the problems of the world. He accepted the phylosophy of Augus e Comte. Hu-manity was his God; the human race the Supreme Being. In that Supreme Being he rested. He believed that we are indebted for what we enjoy to the labor, self denial, the heroism of the human race, and that as we have plucksd the fruit of what others planted, we in thankfulness should plant for others you hearken to this, ye toiling men of yet to be. With him immortality was the workshops? The bourbon legislathe consequence of his own good acts.
He believed that ever good thought, every disinterested deed hastens the harvest of universal good. This is a failure to procure work, affliction, or religion that enriches poverty, that ena-bles us to bear the sorrows of the sadthe happy millions yet to be, a religion born not of selfishness and fear, but of ove and hope; the religion that digs wells to slake the thirst of others, that gladly bears the burden of the unborn. In the presence of death, how beliefs and dogmas wither and decay; how loving words and deeds burst into blos-som! Pluck from the tree of any life barren thorns of bigotry and creed. All wish for happiness beyond this life; all hope to meet again the loved and lost. In every heart there grows this sacred flower of eternal hope. GOLDSBORO, N. C., April 18, 1883 EDITOR POST:-There has been some casting about for a suitable man to head the Republican ticket for Governor in 1884; and as the people of North Carolina expect to free themselves from bourbon rule, and elect a Republican for Governor, by the sovereign vote of the state, therefore I have in view a man, who, in my opinion, if nominated, would be elected by a large majority, and is in every way fitted to fill the posi ion with credit to himself. and honor to the good old state of North Caroline. He is a lawyer by profession, and a natural born leader of men and ideas, and has as much interest in developing the latent resources of North Carolina, as any man born upon her soil since the birth of "Virginia Dare." He was the first white man in the state. of means and position, who dared to strike for political liberty. He is the man who led the independent Democrats and Republicans in the legislature in 1872, and downed the biggest man in the Democratic party, to-wit: Z. B. Vance, and elected Judge Merrimon to the United States senate. He is a man, when a Democrat, who enjoyed the confidence of the leading men in his party, and wielded as much influence as any man in it. But seeing that the Democratic party was autocratic in principle, and opposed to the people ruling, he chose to cast his lot with the Republican party, and take his chances for weal or woe, and, at a time when the Democratic party was in power, and he as big a man as any in t. This man is the Hon. L. W. Humphrey, of Wayne county. His nomination, in my opinion, would assure us a Republican victory in the contest of Tucson, Arizona, April 18 .- A dispatch from Calabazas last night states that a prospector was chased to within three miles of that place last evening. The town was surrounded last night by camp fires and signalling had been going on throughout yesterday from the surrounding mountains. The citizens are mounted and awaiting an attack. A special train from Camp Hual-ua is on its way with troops Captain Black and his rangers arrived there yesterday: He says they traced the Indians who killed McComos' family into the Sierra Madre mountains in Chihuahua. Two scouts who got in aight of their camp in Deep Canon, counted sixty-two warriors and observed a large amount of plunder and a great many animals. They reported this discovery to Capt. Black, but as the rangers numbered only twenty, they eared to attack them.

On Friday morning before his death Mr Jewell awoke from a sound steep and inquired what was the mater at the residence of the Hon. William E. Dodge (his idaughter's father-in-law, the famous New York merchant.) Mr. Jewell's family had just received a telelooked for death of Mr. Dodge, but it was not deemed best to let him know that any such thing had happened, and he was therefore told that all was well in Mr. Dodge's family. He said no that it could not possibly be; that some-thing serious had happened; the family were in great trouble, if not actually in affliction; he knew it in a way which, if not explicable, was nevertheless as clear and certain as if he saw it. Insisting upon this, and refusing to accept his family's denials, he at length induced them to telegraph to New York to see what was the matter. But Mrs. Jewell so worded the telegram as to instruct those who received it to answer that everything was all right. When that answer came they told it to Mr. Jewell, who refused to believe is, and at last asked them to let him see the message itself. This request being granted, and having the occular proof before his eyes in the shape of an unmistakable Western Union telegraph message, he dubiously remarked: "Well, it does seem to be so; but it is very strange; I know there is something the matter—that something serious has happened in Mr. Dodge's house in New York." And that impression he retained until, so soon afterward, he, too, ended his earthly life. He survived Mr. Dodge only about thirty-sight.

Presidents and Presidential Candidates. Nine states of the union have been honored by having presidents selected from among their citizens, viz: Virginia, Massachusetts, Tennessee, New York, Ohio, Louisiana, New Hampshire, Penasylvania, and Illinois. Washington, Jefferson, Madison, and Monroe were Virginians, and the terms of their service aggregated thirty-two years. John Tyler, of Virginia, chosen as vice president, became president, and served four years lacking one month Thus Virginia furnished our presidents for thirty-six of the seventy-two years, commencing with the foundation of the government in 1789 and ending with the commencement of the civil war in 1861, being just one half of the time.

John Adams and John Quincy Adams, were Massachusetts men, and each served four years.

Jackson and Polk were from Tennessee, and their terms aggregated twelve years. Andrew Johnson was chosen vice president, but became president and served four years lacking a month at the end of his term have served three years and a half. Thus New York will have supplied the executive chair during ten and a half years.

Harrison, Hayes, and Garfield were from Ohio. The first died within a month and the latter about six months after entering the office.

Taylor was from Louisiana. He served but a little more than a year. Pierce, of New Hampshire, served four years.

Lincoln and Grant were from Illi noi , and each was twice elected. Their terms aggregated twelve years and little more than a month. To recapitu late, the states named below have furnished all our presidents and for the length of time given.

Virginia..... Massachusetts. years years years years years years years New York .. Total from 1879 to 1885 ...16 years

Of the seventy-two years prior to the civil war the south had the presidency for forty-nine years, besides the eight years of absolute sway under Pierce and Bunchapan, making fifty-seven years. Since the passing away of the presidential elections, at four of which Illinois, and at two of which Ohio has furnished the man.

From the states which furnish presidents candidates have been taken who ere not elected, as follows. In 1796 Jefferson , of Virginia; in 1800 Burr, of ANILLUSTRATED WEEKLY-16 PAGES New York, and Adams, of Massachusetts; in 1812 De Witt Clinton, of New York; in 1816 Rufus Kino, of New York; in 1824 Jackson, of Tennessee; in 1828 Adams, of Massachusetts; in 1836 itarrison, of Onio; in 1840 Van Buren, of New York; in 1860 Douglas, os Illinois, and Bell, of Tennessee; in 1868 Seymour, of New York; in 1875 Tilden, of New York; in 1886 Hancock, of Pennsyl-York; in 1816 Rufus King, of New York; in 1880 Hancock, of Pennsyl-

From the states which have never furnished presidents, candidates have been selected from among their citizens by the party which was defeated, as follows: In 1804 and again in 1808 Pinckney, of South Carolina; in 1824 Crawford, of Georgia, and Clay, of Kentucky; in 1832 Clay, of Kentucky; in 1844 Clay, of Kentucky, in 1848 Cass, of Michigan; in 1852 Scott, of New Jersey; in 1856 Fremont; of Cali-fornia; in 1860 Breckinridge, of Ken-tucky; in 1864 McClellan, of New Jer-

Thus it will seem that the nine states which have had the presidency during the nation's history the following have also furnished unsuccessful candidates at the elections: Virginia once; New York, seven times; Massachusetts, twice; Tennessee, twice; Ohio, Illinois, and Pennsylvania, once—fifteen in all—and other states have furnished candidates without ever succeeding, as follows: South Carolina, twice; Georgia, once; Kentucky, four times; Michigan, once; New Jersey, twice, and California, once eleven in al. Of course these figures include all parties.
Gen. Butler's statement, recently made as to the locality of presidential candidates in late years, is correct, viz, that they have been taken from New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Ohio. The Republicans have not gone outside of Illinois and Ohio for a candidate since they nominated Fremont in 1856. The Democracy during the same period have taken their candidates there time from Nav Var Var dates three times from New York, once from New Jersey, and once from Penn-sylvania. We have supplemented the general's statement with the facts of the past by way of encouraging his friends to renewed efforts for the Democretic nomination. If that party should prevail it is desirable that its candidate should be a friend of equal rights, and one who cannot be harnessed into the old-time bourbon go-cart.—National Branklings. Republican.

Gen. Mahone said to the emancipa tion celebration committee, in his reeponse to their invitation to participate, that "civilization will not be content until the human race are everywhere liberated, and God's people are permitted to enjoy the fruits of their own labor." These are good words. --National Republican.

met at 2½ o'clock yesterday afternoon, pursuant to a call of the Chairman Present, Mr. H. A. Bagg, Chairman, and Commissioners Moore, Worth, Montgomery, and Pearce.

In calling the meeting to order the chairman dispensed with the reading of the minutes of the last meeting, and stated that the object of the present meeting was to act upon the resignation of Col. John D. Taylor, as clerk of the Board, which had been tendered, to take effect to-day.

The resignation of Col. Taylor was then read, and is as follows:

The North American Review for May Tar, contains nine articles, nearly every one Crude Turpentine. of which discusses some topic or pro blem at the present moment prominent in the public mind. Senator John T. Morgan writes of "Mexico," and sets forth the considerations of commercial at 43 cents advantage and international comity which are rapidly bringing about a more cordial understanding between that country and the United States. The Rev. William Kirkus, taking occasion from Bishop McQuaid's recent vaticinations regarding the decay of Protestantism, makes a vigorous coun- $2.75 for Soft ter charge upon the papal system in an article entitled "The Disintegration of Romanism." In "Emerson and Carlyle," Edwin P. Whipple discourses with all his old-time keenness of psychological insight and perfection of htterary form upon the strangely diverse mental and moral characteristics of those two great thinkers. Prof. Felix A dler offers "A Secular View of Moral Training," arguing that the current skeptical habit of thought demands an independent system of practical ethics, based primarily on observation rather than on revelation. "Communism in America," by Prof. Alexander Winchell, gives very forcible expression to the apprehensions of those pessimistic observers of the trend of events in this country who think that they see in our political and social development all the signs of impending national decay. The other articles are "Affinites of Buddhism and Christianity," by the Rev. Dr. James Freeman Clarke; "Woman as an Inventor," by Matilda Joslyn Gage; "College Endowments" by Rossiter Johnson; and "Extradition," by A. G. Sedgwick. Published at 30 Lafayette Place, New York, and for sale by booksellers generally

David Davis' Shirt,

"And what, in the name of goodness is this?" asked Mrs. David Davis, as the Senator lugged something in the room and dropped it at her feet. "This is my shirt, darling, and I will be greatly obliged if you will sew on a button for me." "David Davis," said the lady sternly, "when you bring me your chirt I will sew on a button for you with pleasure, as becomes a fond and dutiful wife; but just now, sir, I must insist upon your removing this circus canvans from my apartment."—Clacia-
